Core Services Receives SAS70 Type II Certification for Third Consecutive Year.

Highly specialized audit distinguishes Core Services above many competitors.

Morristown, NJ. December 5, 2005 – Core Services Corporation, an award-winning Oracle Certified Partner announced today that, for the third year in a row, they have passed The Statement on Auditing Standards (SAS) No. 70 Type II audit performed by Eisner LLP. The SAS 70, Service Organizations, is an internationally recognized auditing standard developed by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants (AICPA). The SAS 70 audit is widely recognized because it validates that a service organization has been through an in-depth audit of their control activities, which generally include controls over information technology and related processes.

“In today's global economy, service providers like Core Services must demonstrate that they have adequate controls and safeguards when they host or process data belonging to their clients,” says James Bistis, President and CEO of Core Services. “In addition, the Sarbanes Oxley Act of 2002, coupled with increased regulatory mandates and guidelines for businesses, have propelled SAS 70 audits into the forefront of the business arena, providing essential business process integrity certification, and they will continue to be part of Core Services' ongoing security and process documentation discipline.”

SAS 70 Type II audits are rapidly becoming a “price of admission” for business service providers as they provide Core's clients vital third-party assurance by examining, documenting, and testing a wide array of internal controls within these “service organizations.” Examples of such service providers include application service providers (ASP's) such as Core Services, insurance and medical claims processors, trust companies, hosted data centers, managed security providers, credit card processing organizations and clearinghouses.
